Connie Hanzhang Jin

Graphic design, web design and development, art and illustration

Education

University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill
Bachelors in Media and Journalism with Specialization in Interactive Multimedia
Minor in Studio Art
2015 – 2019

Skills

Adobe Photoshop, InDesign, Illustrator, Experience Design, JavaScript and jQuery, Java, HTML, CSS, GitHub/Git version control, Python, Django, Wordpress, Figma, D3, QGIS

References

Darla Cameron
dcameron@texastribune.org

Damu Murray
murraydc@email.unc.edu

connie.jin97@gmail.com
(919) 272 -1316
conniehanzhangjin.com

News App Designer Intern at NPR
September 2019 – present
- Creating daily and feature graphics on a large visuals team of designers, developers and producers to tell breaking news and feature stories for a national audience.
- Contributing and pitching graphics to various shows and news stories with D3, HTML, CSS and JavaScript.

Data Visuals Fellow at The Texas Tribune
June 2019 – August 2019
- Collaborating on a small hybrid news application and graphics team of five people to tell data-driven, visual stories.
- Contributing and pitching graphics with HTML, CSS, JavaScript, QGIS and Adobe Illustrator.

Design Assistant at Carolina Union Communications and Creative Services
June 2018 – May 2019
- Created signage, t-shirts, installations, flyers, logos and other deliverables for student organizations, university departments and university events.
- Expected to work on multiple projects and independently manage deadlines to fulfill client requests.

Web Developer for Aftermath: Puerto Rico Rebuilds After Maria
January 2018 – May 2018
- Chosen from a pool of applicants to be a web designer and developer for a semester-long documentary multimedia project in the School of Media and Journalism in collaboration with a team of 30 reporters, designers, videographers, photographers and coaches.
- Traveled to Puerto Rico for ten days to report on the aftermath of the hurricane and designed and built the final interactive project website.
- Winner of an Online News Association Award in the student category.